Bald Eagles (Haliaeetus leucocephalus) are versatile predators capable of capturing a wide range of prey (Buehler 2000). Among the techniques used by Bald Eagles to capture large birds are direct aerial pursuit and swoops to the water’s surface timed to coincide with surfacing of a diving duck or waterbird (Beebe 1974; Stanley 2002). We have seen the latter technique